MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT

Splendid Program of New Numbers Arranged for Tonight At Junior High

PROGRAMS ARE ALL FREE

Deplorable Lack of Interest Shown By Public in Their Own Concert Orchestra

People of Richmond will have another opportunity tonight to hear an exceptionally good musical concert, played by their own municipal orchestra, maintained at the expense of the city itself. It is to be hoped that the lukewarm interest hitherto shown in the Richmond orchestra concerts will receive a few degrees more of warmth tonight, and that a crowd such as the orchestra deserves will turn out.

One of the most delightful programs of the season, consisting of numbers which have not been presented here before, has been arranged and will be presented tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the auditorium of the Roosevelt Junior high school. The program will last well over an hour and is absolutely free.

BEST IN BAY REGION
That Richmond has one of the best orchestras in the bay region has already been frequently demonstrated and it is a shame that the public is not interested sufficiently to encourage the boys with their presence and applause. Some even go to San Francisco and Oakland to pay admission to hear orchestras of inferior merit, when they can hear their own superior musicians right here free of charge.

Since the city has been liberal enough to provide the orchestra it is deplorable that the public does not attend their concerts. It was announced last night that the orchestra might disband if more interest is not shown. This would be nothing less than a calamity to the city.

PROGRAM ARRANGED
Following is the program for tonight:
1—Overture..... "The Magic Flute" Mozart.
2—Suite—(a) "A Shepherd's Tale"; (b) "Shepherds All and Maidens Fair"; (c) "Lullaby"; (d) "Tournament."
3—Fantasia..... "Dutch Patrol" Stoessel.
4—Descriptive..... "A Day at the Fair" M. L. Lake.
5—Oriental..... "The Snake Charmer" Shelley.
6—Waltz, "Call Me Back, Pa' o' Mine" Dixon.
7—Selection..... "The Jewels of the Madonna" Langley.
8—Characteristic..... "The Little Clock on the Mantel" Wheeler.

M. E. Hazelton Returns From Eastern Trip

The great growth of the J. C. Penny company was remarked upon at the convention held by the organization at Atlantic City, N. Y. in the early part of this month, according to M. E. Hazelton, manager of the local J. C. Penny store, who attended the convention, and returned to Richmond yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Penny who was in charge of the convention told of the increase of the company since its start 23 years ago. He said that at that time only one small store was in existence and now there are 587 stores in 42 states.

The convention was made up of 700 managers of the company stores all over the United States and was held for four days previous to a stock buying expedition in New York City, which consumed a month's time.

Hazelton, stated upon his return yesterday that the New York manufacturers are very optimistic as regards the business conditions for the coming year and that conditions throughout the east were very good. Mrs. Hazelton with her baby accompanied her husband as far as Iowa on the eastern trip and was picked up there on Hazelton's journey west and returned with him to this city.

CAVE VICTIM SLEEPS TODAY IN CAVE TOMB

Floyd Collins Given Tomb He Would Prefer; 70 Feet Down In Sand Cave

GREAT CLIFF CRACKS AT BASE

Workmen Seal Cavern And Remove Machinery After Funeral Is Held

By A. H. KIRKLAND (By Universal Service)

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 17.—Floyd Collins sleeps tonight in the tomb he perhaps would have chosen, seventy feet down in Sand Cave.

And there he will sleep for evermore. Nature, which has succeeded and mocked at man's puny efforts to bring him forth, is taking further steps to seal his mausoleum beyond any possibility of his ever coming forth.

A great crack appeared today at the base of the cliff which overhangs the entrance to the cave. It is now six inches wide, and the ground in front of the cliff seems to be sinking. Composed of treacherous shifting muck even before the rescue operations were started, the underground strata which has been disturbed by the sinking of the shaft and tunnels are again seeking to adjust themselves. It is likely that it will sink until all natural passage have been closed.

RESCUE FIGHT IS ENDED

The rescue operation was formally abandoned at 12:25 o'clock today. No extensions of the shaft or laterals were attempted this morning and after several hours of inspection work they decided to leave Floyd's body in the cave.

"But please, boys, say it ended in a fight and not a quit," asked H. T. Carmichael, chief of the rescue operations. "Twenty men would have kept on, even given their lives, if I had said the word. But sometimes there comes a time when the end doesn't justify the means and if ever this was the time. The chances were seventy to one that further work meant the loss of other lives. It wasn't worth it just to try to raise a dead man seventy feet after we had made it possible this morning for twelve men who know him well to see him and positively identify him. And any one else who had the nerve to go down there could have gone in and seen him."

FUNERAL HERE ON CLIFF

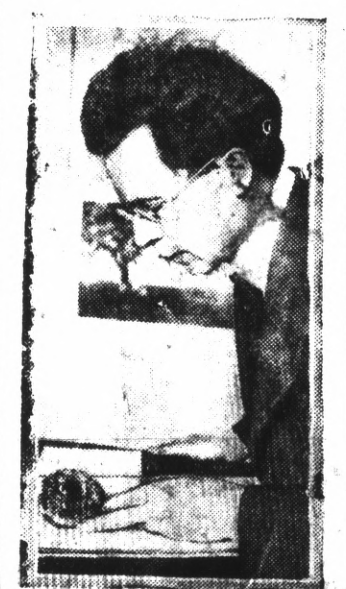

So the friends and neighbors of Floyd Collins, his father and mother, the workmen who have fought for two weeks for his life, the soldiers who have patrolled his tomb, gathered this afternoon among the trees on the cliff over Sand Cave and formally recommitted his body to the embrace of the boulders and sand below.

As the Rev. C. K. Dickey, pastor of the Horse Cave and Cave City Methodist churches bared his head and lifted up his voice in prayer a thousand others hats were doffed and heads bowed.

"O Thou Eternal and Almighty God," he began, in a pitch that carried to the farthest fringe of the crowd, "into thy presence do we come on this precipice in the midst of death. We gather here with sad hearts because of the death of our brother who is gone. Thou hast

4,000 YEAR OLD BILL OF SALE FOUND AMONG BABYLONIAN DOCUMENTS

Babylonian documents more than 4,000 years old, round on one side and flat on the other and used by school boys to write on some 2,000 or more years before Christ, were found some time ago at Warka, in the neighborhood of the biblical city of Erech, where Abraham was living at the time. Bills of sale as well as these tablets were dug up. The photo shows Mr. R. T. Tallman of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C., with one of the ancient documents.

Freight Traffic At Its Highest Peak

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Freight traffic on American railroads is the greatest ever reported for this season of the year, according to figures compiled today by the car service division of the American railway association.

For the first six weeks of 1925, the report shows, loading of revenue freight totaled 5,579,237 cars, an increase of 3.4 per cent over 1924 and of 5.7 per cent over 1923.

In the week ending February 7, car loadings reached 928,241, an increase over the preceding week and also over the corresponding weeks of 1923 and 1924.

All districts except the central western reported increases in the total loading of all commodities over the previous week. All district did better than during the corresponding week of 1923 and all except the eastern and southern districts bettered their 1924 records.

"BROKE" MINER WILL REALIZE LIFE'S DESIRE

Whippet of Fate, Chronically "Broke" Prepares to Buy Metal Laboratory

WINS 20 MILLION DOLLAR SUIT

Tells How He Designed His Invention and His Long Litigation Over It

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—George Campbell Carson, the fifty-eight year old miner, who all his life has been buffeted about from place to place and who was always chronically "broke," tonight was preparing to satisfy his life's ambition and purchased a completely equipped metallurgical laboratory now that fate through one of her strangest and most spectacular turns has elevated him to the dizzy heights of millionairehood.

Yesterday in a cheap room in a sailor's boardinghouse on the San Francisco waterfront Carson was informed that he had won his lawsuit against the American Smelting company and other huge copper companies for alleged infringement of his patents.

The amount involved is approximately $20,000,000, and the verdict in his favor was returned by the United States circuit court of appeals of San Francisco, after twenty years of litigation.

REIMBURSED FOR PROFITS

Carson's suit against the American Smelting and Refining company requires that company to reimburse him for profits which they have derived from using his invention, a special process for handling copper ore through which it is possible to treat 700 tons of ore in a furnace in 24 hours as against the old system which could only treat 250 tons in the same time.

In the court's decision the Phelps-Dodge company of Arizona was also found to have been using the process invented by Carson twenty years ago and that company likewise must render to the inventor an accounting of all profits they have made from his invention.

Similar suits, all of which will be affected by the decision, are pending against the Anaconda Copper company and the United Verde company, which latter is controlled by the heirs of the former Senator Clark of Montana.

SPECKELS GIVES AID

The litigation of Carson, who up to now was virtually a friendless miner, against the gigantic copper corporations was financed by Rudolph Speckels and Robert Hayes Smith, widely known California capitalists.

"I had heard of Rudolph Speckels as a man who would be interested in seeing an under dog get a square deal," explained Carson today, "and I laid wires to get introductions to him. That was some time ago. Finally he became interested and organized some of his friends to help finance my case."

The effect of the court's decision in the Carson case on the copper market is expected to be tremendous. The spectacular slump of metals stocks on Wall street today is laid by financial observers to the success of Carson's suit against the

Dress Rehearsal Of Inauguration Ceremonial Held

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—A "dress rehearsal" for the administration of the Presidential oath of office is something new in inaugural appals, but such was the errand of Chief Justice Taft, of the Supreme Court at the White House late today.

Asked by newspapermen the reason for his call upon President Coolidge, Justice Taft smilingly replied: "You know we have to administer the oath."

The Chief Justice's visit seemed to make it virtually certain that he will swear in the President at the ceremonies March 4 at the capitol. This function legally can be fulfilled, however, by any member of the tribunal over which Taft presides.

CHARITY INAUGURAL BALL IS ARRANGED

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—President-elect and Mrs. Dawes head the list of patrons and patronesses for the charity inaugural ball to be held on the evening of inauguration day, March 4.

General and Mrs. Dawes have promised to be among those who will attend the functions as guests of honor. They will occupy the principal box, as will State Governors, also guests of the ball committee.

Other sponsors for the affair are the Ambassadors accredited to the United States by foreign governments, Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft, Members of the Cabinet, officers of the Senate and the House of Representatives and numerous others prominent in the official and social life of the national capital.

A ten pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Avel E. Grube, of 749 McLaughlin avenue, yesterday morning. Dr. Spaulding was the attending physician.

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED AT CONVENTION

Arrangements Well Under Way For Great Convention To Be Held Here in June

RICHMOND'S GREATEST EVENT

Veterans of Foreign Wars of Nevada And California To Visit This City

According to announcement made at the meeting of Veterans of Foreign Wars held in the city hall last night, between 10,000 and 15,000 members are expected to attend the convention of the states of California and Nevada to be held in Richmond next June.

This will be one of the biggest events in the history of Richmond when the many thousand people, returning home, will carry to all parts of the two states a glowing account of the excellent treatment they are sure to receive here.

Fears were expressed at the meeting of the Richmond council Veterans of Foreign Wars last night, that large numbers of the visiting delegates would have to be housed in neighboring cities owing to the lack of accommodations here.

TO BE BIG DEMONSTRATION
Elaborate plans are being worked out for the convention program and will include parades of such spectacular splendor that they will attract national attention through news reel movies and special newspaper stories.

Plans for the convention are progressing rapidly, according to the reports, and the following committees have been appointed to look after arrangements:

Finance: R. Wood, chairman; F. Heeger, C. Washburn, J. H. Fitzpatrick, E. Seiger and William Jones. Transportation and badge: William Wilson, chairman, George Grafton, and S. S. Ripley.

Hotel accommodations: William Armstrong, chairman; O. L. Hazlett, and G. E. Ford.

FEATURE TALK MADE

An exceptionally interesting address by Commander Smith of Leavenworth Post, No. 599, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Oakland, was the feature of the meeting of the Richmond Post held at the city hall memorial rooms last night. C. Washburn, commander, was in the chair for the evening.

Smith gave a lengthy talk on the general upbuilding of the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization and spoke favorably of the work that is being done to make the convention of all the posts in California and Nevada to be held in Richmond in June a success.

Three new members were taken into the post at last night's session and four were balloted on and will be taken in at the next meeting which will be held on March 3.

ARRESTED IN RAID

In a raid made by the Richmond police department yesterday afternoon Joe Isaacson, Room 5, 216 Macdonald avenue, was arrested and charged with violation of the Wright Act. A quantity of jackass liquor was said to have been found in his possession. Isaacson was released on $1,000 bail bond to appear before Judge O'Leary today.

DOWN THE AGES WITH DAD

Time was, according to the Outline of History and other authorities on man, when to be a he was to possess about all the prerogatives the scope of human achievement could give any individual. The grown man was somebody. He had to be, for it was conquer or croak.

The tribe was organized to put some loose limit to the tendency of the male to be what he has since fatuously denominated himself—that lord of creation. In the original tribel, all men except the Old Man, were compelled to cut down their privileges and cede a share of them to a single chieftain. This resulted in a decrease of man's license and although the scientists would have us believe that through the ages man's head has grown to make room for an expanding mind, it is nevertheless true that there has been a shrinking of his head, too. When first he admitted that some other he might have a bigger say in the conduct of human affairs, then began the gradual loss of rights that has its present but deplorably not final stage in present-day curbing.

The Nevada assemblyman who said: "They have taken our women away from us by constitutional amendments. They have taken our liquor away from us and now they want to take our children away," was unwittingly speaking out of the ancient memories all men have, harking back to the day of pure and unregulated democracy.

The history of man has been a story of his conquest of nature. Instead of the all-benign friend, nature is the deadly enemy of man. Nature produces vortical cataclysms and microscopic organisms with equal power to do the strongest and wisest man under with surpassing ease. And so, we recognized that his victory has been wrested from nature.

But he has also waged another battle and in this one, his enemy has been his own nature. Man came from dirt, lives on and from dirt and goes back to dirt, but he has a glorious span above it, having developed what we believe to be a soul. He achieved the soul by his conquest of human nature, his own nature.

Now, no winning battle can be fought without sacrifices. In putting up a gradually widening fight for victory against nature and himself, man has found it imperative to give up gradually the privileges he occasionally mourns.

HERE IS PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

David F. Houston, formerly Secretary of Agriculture, is now president of the Bell Telephone Securities Company of New York. It is his job to dispose of the bonds and stocks of the telephone corporations. The policy of the company is to secure as wide a distribution, particularly of stocks, as possible. As a result, the stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company now number nearly 350,000, of whom 65,000 are employees of the company or its associated corporations. The largest stockholder owns less than two per cent of all the stock, and no group has control.

This is a policy which has in recent years been adopted by a great many of the largest corporations of the country. The public utilities companies, which only a few years ago were owned by a few thousand stockholders, with small groups in control, now have more than 2,000,000 stockholders. The United States Steel Corporation has nearly 160,000 stockholders. The Standard Oil group have 300,000. Armour and Company have 77,000, Swift and Company 47,000 and the larger railroad system over 800,000.

Here is a picture of a great transition which has taken place, or is taking place, before our very eyes, and though its meaning is tremendous, there is little noise about it. It is ushering in a new era, in which the condition of the average citizen is vastly improved and made more secure.

There is small doubt that the United States is being industrialized. Farmers can get up on this, or stay out, just as they please. If the money they invested in fake schemes, and in land at inflated prices during their prosperous period of 1916 to 1920 had gone into stocks and bonds of legitimate institutions, the worst would have been taken out of the subsequent depression, and the recent industrial prosperity would have been shared by them.—Agricultural Review, Kansas, City.

TAX FREE PROPERTY

It used to be only churches and schools that were tax free property on a large scale, and state legislatures always had someone who enjoyed introducing a bill to place church property on the tax rolls.

We hear little or nothing of that any more, but in the past twenty-two years the value of real property exempted from taxation has risen to twenty-one billion dollars, says a national industrial board.

How such a vast amount of real estate and improvements can escape taxation, will become the subject of a great deal of inquiry and possible official investigation.

Considered on top of tax free securities in the shape of municipal and state bonds, that are voted by the people for all manner of public purposes, the problem is a serious one and affects all investments.

Georgette Neck Scarf Trimmed With Matching Bands of Fur Are a Spring Attraction.

EVER since the days when God Bless of England brought popularity to starched muslin ruffs that stretched upward and outward in so forbidding a manner, women seem to have devoted an amount of thought and money to the clothing of their necks quite out of proportion to the size thereof. At the present time especially necks have taken upon themselves undue importance. Arms and wrists have not had nearly so much attention recently. We a fur scarf you had best stick to a fur scarf.

One of the attractions offered to women who can afford a variety in such matters consists of generous scarves of georgette, trimmed with bands of fur. Sometimes they are constructed so as to form a straight high stock of the fur to a round the neck, with the ends of the georgette edged with fur. The sketch shows one of this sort—beige georgette with fur to match.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

By MARY MARSHALL

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES

THE eyes are perhaps the most important feature, because, for one thing, the eyes do most to indicate the personality behind them.

At first thought, the eyes seem difficult to influence. Unless, of course, one resorts to heading and circling and the various other tricks and fancies that Oriental beauties seem to have originated.

But really you can do a great deal to keep your eyes in good, and therefore beautiful, condition.

To begin with, don't abuse them. Have good light for reading and sewing. If they get tired, bathe them with a mild wash and, if possible, rest them by lying down for ten minutes and closing them. If you want to, lay a wet cloth over them while you close them. It will refresh them and help keep them closed.

And, of course, if they trouble you, go to a physician or an oculist. Eyes are worth too much to take any chances with them.

BERNARD MACFADDEN

Eggs unquestionably share with milk freedom from the objections made against flesh foods, and are therefore, exceedingly valuable in a vegetarian diet. That fact, however, does not warrant us to accept the usual exaggerated claims of the economy of eggs as meat substitutes. Eggs are about equivalent to lean meat with a small proportion of fat, and are worth about fifty per cent more per dozen than meat is per pound.

The real value of eggs compared with meat is the fact of the better quality of the nutritive materials, and the use of eggs in the place of meats permits the meat eater to discard the extravagant and injurious flesh food for a more delicate and wholesome substitute.

Although the most common use of eggs is as a cooked dish used in the meal as is meat, eggs also may be used raw as milk is used. Some people like raw eggs eaten straight or with a pinch of salt; the majority, however, will not find them palatable in this form, but there are many ways of making them palatable while raw, even to the most finicky taste. For instance, an egg-nogg can be made of milk, flavored with any kind of flavoring that appeals to the taste. Or an egg can be shaken up with any kind of fruit juice. Or if the whites and yolks are beaten up separately, and afterward combined, with the addition of a little sugar or some sweet fruit, the combination is very palatable.

Raw eggs, soft-boiled, or poached eggs, are popularly considered easier to digest than those that are hard-boiled and so they are if the white of the hard-boiled egg is not thoroughly masticated. When the white is well chewed the hard-boiled egg is as digestible as any other kind. Jorissenne, a French dietitian, states that he regards the yolk of raw, soft-boiled, and hard-boiled eggs as equally digestible. The white of soft-boiled eggs, being semi-liquid, offers little more resistance to the digestive juices than raw white. The white of hard-boiled egg is not generally very thoroughly masticated. Unless finely divided, it offers more resistance to the digestive juices than the fluid or semi-fluid white. Provided mastication is thorough, marked differences in the completeness of digestion of the three sorts of eggs will not be found.

WHERE IT STARTED

YANKEE DOOLE

There are several origins claimed for this tune. In England under Charles I it was played under the title of "Nankee Doodle." Kossuth, in America, recognized it as an old Hungarian air; and it has been claimed that an old sword-dance of the Biscayans had the same music. We adopted it because it was to this tune that the British evacuated Boston after the battle of Lexington.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

NANCY LARRABEE remains in New York with her mother, VIRGINIA, when her husband, JIM LARRABEE, who is an army officer, goes to the Philippines on foreign service. Disillusioned after six months of marriage when she sees another woman in her husband's arms, she plays the social game as her mother dictates, in her relationship with

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XIV—A STRANGE ENCOUNTER

SOMETIMES I wonder if any village in the world is as small as New York City.

If you want to avoid anyone, you are sure to run into them, if you live there. You're quite likely to live in the apartment next door to somebody who is the best friend of your long lost first cousin you haven't seen for years. Fate seems to take delight in picking two or three people out of the thousands who throng the streets and throwing them together.

The day after Jordan's party I went to a luncheon given by some of the girls who had been in my class at school, who lived in New York. I didn't really want to go; they had all known of my headlong romance with Jim, and I hated to let them suspect that he and I weren't happily married.

"You let him go off to the Philippines without you?" one of them exclaimed in amazement. "My dear, how could you? Why, I'd no more let my husband go anywhere without me."

"Indeed you wouldn't," she wouldn't dare," one of the other retorted. "Nancy can be sure that no man who's ever fallen in love with her could possibly forget her."

It was crazy, of course, but I couldn't help being thankful to that other girl. All these old friends of mine had so much more money than I, and took life so easily—it made me rather unhappy to see them.

I felt disgusted when I thought of how Virginia and I schemed and worked to keep up appearances. When we left Pedro's, where we had luncheon, Frank's car was waiting for me.

"Oh—your car?" asked the girl who had been so unpleasant to me. "Doing rather well to keep a car like that on a second lieutenant's salary, aren't you, Nancy? Or does it belong to a kind friend?"

"It's not mine, of course," I said, assuming my most childlike air. I wouldn't let her know that she had hurt me. "But since I'm living with my mother of course I use her things."

"Oh yes, of course," she wasn't even bright enough to see through my subterfuge. But as I drove away I could understand why some women throw aside all restraint and go out to get money, no matter what it costs them. Take me, for instance—how simple it would be for me to get a divorce from Jim and marry Frank Atwood, or perhaps Mr. Jordan. I'd have plenty of money then. And it was just such girls and women as that old school friend of mine who were likely to make one do it."

It was a raw, rainy day, and Frank's car was delightfully comfortable. I leaned back in the soft cushions, put my feet on the heater, and held my huge corsage bouquet of violets and lavender sweet peas.

As I pondered how any man could be unkind to her, I began to wonder if there wasn't just one happily married couple somewhere in the world. Certainly my own experience hadn't led me to think it possible. I wanted to go out like Diogenes looking for an honest man, and see if I couldn't find two people who'd gone through years of marriage together and made a success of it.

The hotel was crowded with young people who had dropped in for tea and a dance or two. They were everywhere—in the small embrasure opposite the entrance, all down the wide hall, clustered about on couches and in deep chairs, and the tea-rooms were full of them. It seemed as if there weren't any people over twenty-five in the world.

I caught sight of Virginia at last, in a corner of the palm-room with a woman who would have been very beautiful if she hadn't been so sad. I made my way between the tables eagerly, anxious to meet her.

As I paused beside them Virginia turned to me.

"Oh, Nancy," she said, then, to the woman, "Mrs. Jordan, this is my daughter."

A photograph I had noticed the evening before, tucked away on a desk in the Jordan library, flashed into my mind. It was this woman's picture.

So Jordan was the man in the case.

Kentish Splits: Mix together 2 cups of flour, and 4 teaspoonsful of baking powder. Rub into it 4 table-spoons of butter, and bind with a very little milk. Roll out to a thickness of one inch and cut into rounds. Bake in a quick oven, and when done split open, and butter. Serve hot.

Luncheon Sandwiches: Cut very thin slices from a loaf of brown bread. Spread them generously with cream cheese, which has been well seasoned with salt and pepper and made pink by being mixed with the juice of a few preserved cherries or currants. Scatter over a small amount of chives, cut small, before pressing the two slices together. Chocolate Pudding: Measure into a bowl two heaped tablespoons each of cornstarch, chocolate powder, flour and sugar; also one good teaspoonful of baking powder. Stir these well together.

Now slightly warm 6 tablespoons of butter. Beat it to a cream and gradually stir it into the dry ingredients; do the same with one egg beaten in half a cup of milk. Stir well and then scrape all into a greased pudding bowl. Stand in boiling water and leave it over boiling water to cook gently for an hour.

Flowered silk neck scarf, showing roses, nasturtiums, erysantheums, and almost any sort of flower, elegantly patterned all over the material, are popular at the moment.

Norma Talmadge Escapes Injury In "Only Woman"

Norma Talmadge narrowly escaped serious injury when 310 tons of water, approximately 620,000 gallons, were loosed on the deck of a studio built yacht during the filming of certain scenes in "The Only Woman," her latest First National photoplay.

Miss Talmadge, her leading man, Eugene O'Brien, Director Sidney O'cott and more than 30 members of the company and technical staff were swept off the studio yacht into a big tank.

The force of the water was such that the deck of the ship was entirely demolished and many of the members of the company were badly bruised when timber fell upon them.

Life nets had been placed around the edge of the tank. The presence of the nets was a very fortunate matter for several actors and labors were thrown out of the tank when the latter overflowed in the crush of the flood.

That Miss Talmadge escaped without serious injury was indeed fortunate, for if she had been hit by any of the timbers that had been carried away by the tons of water death or serious injury might have resulted.

Besides Eugene O'Brien, Norma Talmadge's leading man, the cast consists of Matthew Betz, Edwards Davies, Winter Hall, Percy Williams, Stella di Lanti, Muriel Lock, M. Quare, the Rev. Neal Todd, E. H. Calvert and Louis Dumar.

The picture will be at the Richmond today and tomorrow. Other features on the same program include "The Lost Dog," a Spat Family comedy; a "Prizma," a screen magazine.

WILL ALTER RESIDENCE

Alteration will be made on the two-story residence of Mrs. H. Dover, located on Clinton, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets, according to permit issued yesterday by E. E. Grow, building inspector. The cost of the improvements will be $1000. E. Bibby, local contractor, will do the work.

Coleen Moore Is Star In Edna Ferber's Story "So Big" Now At California Theatre For Two Days

Coleen Moore and Wallace Berry in "So Big"

When "grandma" was a girl! Coleen Moore giggles whenever she thinks of those days. She has just finished living through them as the star of First National's adaptation of the Edna Ferber novel, "So Big," which comes today and tomorrow to the California theatre.

Accustomed to looking at things from the viewpoint of the "flapper" roles she has made famous on the screen, such as her "Flaming Youth" the days when grandmother was a girl were quite amusing.

Imagine Coleen's experience in being whisked over smooth roads to the studio in a limousine, driven by a uniformed chauffeur, each morning to a rickety old farm buggy driven by Wallace Berry in "So Big."

And to divest herself of the smart imported street suit and French months. Three reported the winter months as slack and 13 reported that business was excellent at all times and that they could not state that there was a slack period at any time.

According to these figures and other data along the same lines which has been compiled by the Chamber of Commerce this class of investment in the building line has proven profitable on practically all occasions.

Tells Rheumatics to Begin on Salts

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids, and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and, thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.

COLLIE HATED COWARD PARTS IN MOVIE HERE

ors on the screen, has one of the important roles in "The Man Next Door," the picture of the famous novel by Emerson Hough, author of "The Covered Wagon," which will be seen at the Wesley M. E. church next Friday night.

He is known in the picture as "Peanuts," the pet terrier of Bonnie Bell Wright, one of the leading roles, which is played by Alice Calhoun. Pal is a fine, intelligent-looking bull terrier, and his role is that of a messenger between two young sweethearts on adjoining estates.

The Wisnors have built a spite wall between their house and the mansion owned by Bonnie Bell Wright and her father, "Peanuts," the pet dog, was to blame. He didn't like the snobbish collies that belonged to the Wisnors, and one afternoon Peanuts leaped over the hedge which then separated the two estates and chased the collie into the house.

The two dogs flew through the open doors and into the reception room. It was filled with bridge players. Mrs. Wisner playing hostess to her bridge club that afternoon. In a moment more the fight was on. Tables and chairs were overturned, women fainted, and Bonnie Bell, after much effort finally rescued her beloved Peanuts; not that Peanuts cared so much about being rescued at that. He had been doing quite well.

This was one of the most difficult situations to shoot in the production of "The Man Next Door." A fine thoroughbred collie was engaged by Director Victor Schertzinger for the scene. He was a beautiful dog, and an intelligent dog, so intelligent that when the time came for him to be chased into the mansion, he simply wouldn't be chased.

"Collies don't run away," he told his master as plainly as if he could speak. "A collie never runs; a collie stands and fights until his fine proud head gives way." The dog's warm heart telegraphed to his owner.

But the owner persisted with kindness and eventually, after many tries, in which the collie, the moment he would hear Pal at his heels, would wheel for fight, instead of fleeing into the house, the collie raced indoors, followed by Pal.

Doors of the Wesley church at Ninth and Nevin will be open at 7:00 o'clock; picture begins at 7:15. Rev. C. G. Lindeman will lead the song program in advance of the picture. A silver offering is the only thing necessary to see the big program.

Sore?

Rub with Red Pepper Instant relief

The way to relieve soreness, lameness, rheumatic pains, etc., is red pepper.

That's the new-day way, the quick, efficient way. No old way compares. Nothing else creates such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And a heat that doesn't hurt you.

You feel that heat instantly when you apply Red Pepper Rub. In three minutes it seems to penetrate the depths. The circulation is started, congestion is relieved. The soreness and pain depart.

Think how many hours of pain Red Pepper Rub may save you. Everybody finds many needs. Have it ever ready. Get it now. Then when pain starts, or a chest cold, turn to this jar for relief. It is usually but a matter of minutes. Do this for comfort's sake.

ROWLES' RED PEPPER RUB
for pains of Rheumatism, Backaches, Lumbago, Sprains, Soreness, Neuritis, Congestion, Chest Colds.
None genuine without the name Rowles.

The talk proved of great interest, and was enjoyed by all present. An invitation was extended by the doctor to the members of the club to visit the home in Berkeley, some time and see how things were run.

Through the courtesy of Rev. Frank Woten the Y. M. C. A. quartet was obtained, and they entertained the assembled guests with two selections.

American Smelting and Refining company.

HEARS PATENT DISCUSSED

In an interview tonight with Universal Service Carson declared that he first became aware that his patent was being infringed upon at a meeting of the American Society of Mining Engineers held in New York City in 1915.

"Someone read an abstract describing a side-charging process for ore and I recognized in the description many points of similarity between the process being described and one I invented."

"I began to investigate and after becoming convinced that the process in the abstract was my own I approached several copper companies, especially the American Smelting and Refining company."

"The vice-president of that company told me my patent was worthless."

"However, after seeing him several times he agreed to pay me first $1,000, then $2,000 and finally $3,000. This vice-president was also representing the Phelps-Dodge and the Anaconda people in addition to his own company."

"I flatly refused to consider any such settlement and told him the affair would be settled in court, which it finally was."

STORY OF LONG FIGHT

Back in 1906 Carson, then a common laborer in Denver, was impressed with human waste involved in feeding gigantic copper furnaces at high speed.

He designed a side-feeding method for the reverberatory furnace to suit the firestone top-feeding system. Testimony in the case shows that after properly patenting his invention Carson traveled from smelter to smelter begging for a chance to demonstrate his device, but without success.

It was not long thereafter, however, that the side-charging furnace was adopted by all the great smelters of the country.

The copper companies claimed that Carson was not the inventor of the side-charging device. The said an Englishman had preceded him, and that consequently he was not entitled to collect.

Carson brought suit. For nearly twenty years he has waited. Finally he found a sympathetic patent attorney, John H. Miller of San Francisco.

Through Miller Carson's story reached Rudolph Spreckels and Robert Hayes Smith. These capitalists came to his assistance with the result that today nearly twenty years after he invented his device, Carson is reaping the reward of his genius.

INTENDS TO "WATCH OUT"

"I'm not counting on letting my money change my life much," Carson declared today.

Carson has no yearning for a wife and home. "I'm an old bachelor and too set in my ways to think of marriage," he said.

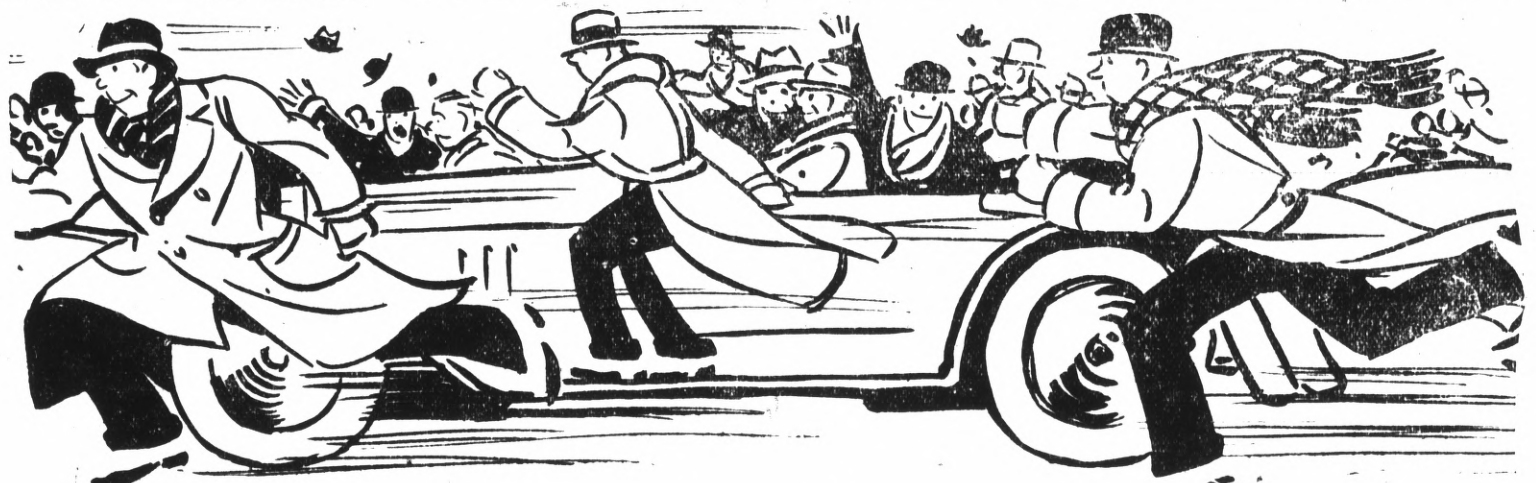

"What I want is a laboratory. I want to invent devices that will take the load off men's backs and give them a little ease."

"Money isn't everything. I have known lots of men in the mining game who came into great wealth and I never saw them get anything but misery out of it. Great wealth can ruin anyone's chances for happiness if one doesn't watch out."

"I intend to watch out."

A dinner meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Contra Costa County is scheduled for Thursday evening of this week at Max's Inn on San Pablo avenue.

RICHMOND HIGH BASEBALL TEAM TO PLAY U. C.

The discovery of a new first baseman, the weak spot on the team, has raised the hopes of Coach Ivan Hill of the Richmond high school to a point where he believes that his ball team will give the University of California freshmen team a hard battle, with an outside chance of walking away with the bacon in the game Saturday. The new star to be exposed to public gaze is Dick Paasch, the old reliable football and basketball player.

Hill has been trying Paasch out on the keystone sack for the past three days, and is well satisfied with his experiment. With a little more practice, Hill believes that Paasch will stack up with the best of them in high school circles.

FIRST REAL PRACTICE

This is the first week that the men have had a chance to get in any real practice, and Hill is making the most of the opportunity. With the game on Saturday with the "Cal" frosh, at West field, Berkeley, it behooves Hill to get busy. The first year men have been working out for the past month, and should be in very fair shape now.

However, due to the many men who tryout for the team, the freshmen will not have much team-work development at this early date, and it is unlikely that they will use their strongest line-up assembled. In this lies the hope of the local boys. It is very possible that they may slip over a win, as they are capable of a set of high school ball tossers as one will find in the bay district. Most of them have had one or two years of experience, and are used to being under fire so that they will not become rattled in a tight place.

LINE-UP ANNOUNCED

Hill has announced his starting line-up for Saturday's game as follows: Gualdoni, c.; Murray and Villalobos, p.; Paasch, 1b.; Hirth, 2b.; Barbieri, ss.; Swenson, 3b.; Pimm, lf.; Thompson, cf.; Tallone, rf.; Substitutes: Chattlet, n.; Otto Johnson, Jones Reimer, Glum, Humphries and Tittmore.

The game with the freshmen will start at 2:30 o'clock, on West field—the freshmen field on the University grounds.

St. George Sons Win Soccer Game

The Sons of St. George soccer team were returned the victors in the first round of the California state championship, by their defeat of the Fruitvale team at Idora Park in Oakland, last Sunday, by the score of 3 to 0. The winners were never in danger of losing, and clearly demonstrated their superiority over their opponents.

completely out-classed and never had a chance from the beginning to the end.

In the other game of the afternoon the 85-pound team played the 100-pound team to a 7 to 7 tie. Both teams are from the Junior high. The 85-pounders have yet to lose a game this year.

The Oakland Pullman company was defeated by the Richmond Pullman team, 31 to 18 in the Junior high school gym here last night. The game was pretty even for the first half, but in the second period the home boys ran away with the bacon.

In the other game of the evening, the Richmond 130-pound team, composed of former high school players defeated the team from the Richmond Lutheran church, 21 to 9.

Line-ups: Oakland—Roberts, Cerri, Edgar, Silva and Enokosa.

History of Ball Bats Is Told By School Lecturer

The manufacture and care of baseball bats was the subject of the address given by W. R. Kerrig, representative of the A. G. Spalding Bros., sporting goods stores, to the boy students of the Roosevelt Junior high school in the school auditorium yesterday afternoon.

Kerrig, who spent many years as a professional ball-player, told the boys never to leave a bat in the rain, without first oiling the stick. This process rendered the bat immune from harm, he said. Otherwise the bat if left in the rain would soon lose its usefulness.

He also told how they manufactured the bats out of chunks of wood, 30 inches long and 3 inches wide; and described the process of the manufacture of the bat in detail.

His experiences in professional baseball proved of surpassing interest to the assembled students. He gave instructions in how to hunt, swing free from the shoulder, and in various other essentials of the national pastime.

Golf Club Places Score Card Boxes

A box for score cards has been placed at the caddy house on the Carquinez Golf club course. All members should turn in their scores in order that handicaps can be determined.

Handicaps will be based on the five lowest scores turned in and it is expected to have them compiled and posted by April first.

Golf Club Orders Course Completed

The construction of the next nine holes of the Carquinez Golf course was authorized at the meeting and luncheon held by the directors of the organization in the Elks clubrooms yesterday noon. Work will be started on the holes immediately, and it is expected that they will be completed within the next six weeks.

Grant Miner, Jr., vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Dr. U. S. Abbott, president.

Handball Title Game Scheduled

The championship game of the Y. M. C. A. handball tournament is to be played between T. M. Carlson and R. A. Mueller, who have swept all opposition from their path. Yesterday Carlson defeated W. Woolsey in two straight games, 21-20 and 21-8, thus becoming eligible for the finals.

Aged Fisherman Inquest Tonight

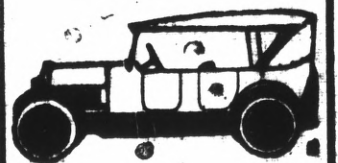

An inquest will be held into the alleged drowning of Carl Fredericks, aged fisherman, by Coroner Charles F. Donnelly, tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Fredericks had been missing since October 3, and his body was only discovered Monday morning, lying on the beach.

The remains were buried in Sunset View cemetery yesterday morning. Fredericks had lived here for several years, and had made his living by fishing, and clam digging on the beach. He was about 60 years of age.

Large Number Try Out For Baseball

In anticipation of games with the Junior high school of the city, and of other cities in the near future, the Sophomore class of the high school under the direction of "Lefty" Caldwell, has tugged out in large numbers to try for places on the baseball team that will be chosen to represent the class. Every afternoon one may see many prespiring second year men on the high school diamond, chasing flies or testing their eye in "pop" practice.

An effort is being made to arrange games with the various Junior high schools on this side of the bay. Each Hill has also promised that he will use many of the men as his second string line-up, which insures them of getting a chance to play. According to Hill there are many men on the squad that show great promise.

Cave Victim

not seen fit to release him from the tomb below.

"Bless all who have labored here in his behalf. Bless those of the Red Cross, the men of the army, the newspaper reporters, and all of us. May this tragedy teach us of the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death, and grant that we may see that it is born unto every man to die."

FATHER AND MOTHER WIFE

Lee Collins, father of the dead "caver" turned toward his wife, as she pressed a handkerchief to her eyes. They sat just in front of the preacher, who stood on the stump of a tree cut down to finish logs for the shaft operations. Next to them sat Andrew Collins, Floyd's uncle and next to him were two vacant chairs. Homer and Marshall Collins, Floyd's brothers, were not there. A choir of 30 women from the churches of the Cave City, swept softly into the familiar strains of "Nearer, My God to Thee." When the hymn was over the Rev. Roy H. Bizer, pastor of the Christian church of Glasgow, mounted the stump.

"This is an unusual occasion, perhaps unparalleled in the history of our State and nation," he said. "In none other than I can recall have ever been commingled the prayers and the interest of the whole nation in the work of rescue. When we ask why all this interest, we find the answer in that the story of Floyd Collins is the story of the human race, its struggle from darkness to light, from bondage to freedom."

"Everything that was humanly possible has been done to bring Floyd Collins from the depths where he lies, he loves caves, like some love flowers and poetry. He loved to wander among them and see the wonderful work of God engrained in the stalactites and stalagmites and now he lies in a sarcophagus of stone. It is a mighty tribute to our country that there is so much interest in his death."

"UNDERSTAND IT BETTER"

Mrs. L. D. Withers of Cave City, said: "We'll Understand It Better By and By." Then the Rev. Dickey mounted the stump again.

"It is a good thing Floyd Collins was not brought to the surface," he said. "His face was drawn with agony and suffering and it is better that we who know him should remember him as he was. It had been his wish that he be buried in a cave when his time came and only a few days ago he had a dream in which he saw himself caught in one, and angel hands reaching for him. That dream has come true."

"Floyd Collins was converted six years ago, but I understand he had departed from the ways of righteousness. But while he was in his confinement below he was reconverted. He prayed down there, for you can call upon God regardless of where you are. He asked God to forgive him for his sins right over there," and he waved an arm in the direction of the shaft. "The interest of all the world in Floyd Collins shows to me that the world is getting better. Floyd found hope and mercy in God when all human effort in his behalf had failed. The whole nation is brought in sympathy and tears by his sad fate."

HERO IS COMMENDED

"Before the services began Mr. Carmichael asked me to mention the heroism of Everett Maddox."

"Maddox was one of the first to try to bring Floyd out of the cave but he was taken sick and had to leave. But as soon as he got well he came back and Mr. Carmichael said:

"Tell everybody he came back just as all of us were almost ready to quit and he brought new spirit into us all." It is probable that monument to Everett Maddox, and to all the other heroic men who toiled in the shaft to rescue Floyd Collins

LIONS CLUB HAS SNAKES AT LUNCHEON

Rattlesnakes and Gila monsters, the most deadly of serpents, featured the Luncheon held by the Lions club yesterday. Tex A. Schubach, proprietor of a snake farm in Oakland, delivered a lecture on snakes and illustrated his point with several reptiles that he brought along for demonstration.

Throughout the lecture a five-foot rattlesnake lay coiled on the stage, and every few moments he would make that queer death-chilling noise with his rattles, that strikes terror to the heart of one who hears it for the first time. The lecture on the whole proved of surpassing interest. The chairman of day was Frank A. Scholes, E. H. Higgins, vice-president of the club, occupied the chair at the request of the president, John Collins.

State Delegate of Richmond Schools

George M. Morris will represent the Richmond schools as a delegate to the state conference of music supervisors and teachers of California, called by authority of the state board of education, to be held at Pomona College, Claremont, February 26, 27 and 28. It was announced yesterday. Other teachers of Richmond will probably attend as guests.

GARAGE PERMIT ISSUED

Permits were granted to Jos. Duarte to erect a one story garage on Twentieth street, between Nevin and Barrett avenues, at a cost of $300. E. E. Grow, building inspector, E. Bibby will do the work.

will be erected on top of this cliff.

Maddox had come in from the shaft only a short time before and was standing in the front row of the assemblage. He sat down on the ground when his name was mentioned and went. A woman handed him a handkerchief and he held it over his eyes until the service was ended.

Then the choir and the whole assemblage joined in singing "Asleep in Jesus" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The Rev. J. F. Van Cleave of Cave City and A. F. Pearson, the Cave City undertaker, stepped to the edge of the cliff. Pearson had a handful of spruce twigs and cast them over the edge into the mouth of the cavern, as the Rev. Van Cleave recited the familiar "Earth to Earth."

ASSEMBLAGE MELTS AWAY. The assemblage melted away, the bustle of the "get away" of the young army of workers succeeded the quiet of the services. Soldiers were striking tents and an occasional oath was dropped over a refractory pole. Tractors which have been sawing timbers and running pumps choked noisily up the incline from the ravine and lumbered away in the direction of Cave City. Workmen tossed bags of cement and cases of dynamite into wagons, others tugged at lengths of corrugated pipe through which it had been planned to make a last desperate dash for Collins' body. The big gray ambulance, which has stood near the Red Cross tent for a week, rolled away with the ill-manned bucket. One lone gasoline engine still "put putted" away down in the ravine, but the excitement that has drawn the attention of the world to this lonely spot in the Kentucky Knob country was all over.

Gasoline Spills, Cause Fire Danger at Sanitary Plant

Because of the recent rains the railroad ties of the spur track at the Pacific Sanitary plant became loose, with the result that the rails spread, causing the derailing of three cars loaded with gasoline, at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Two of the cars tipped over and spilled their contents upon the ground, forming a pool of gasoline. The other ran up along side of one of the buildings.

Great danger from fire was imminent from the pool of gasoline, and as a result chemical truck No. 1 of the fire department was sent out to protect the premises from fire. The truck remained there until 9:45 o'clock last night. A crew of men were put on guard by the company, and work proceeded in the wreckage all night.

It is said by officials of the fire department that the danger will not be over until a week or more has passed. This is due to the great quantity of gasoline that is on the ground.

DEPARTMENT NOT TO WORK OUTSIDE CITY

In the future the Richmond Fire department will not send their apparatus outside the city limits to combat fires, according to announcement made yesterday by Fire Chief W. P. Cooper. Cooper says that the taxpayers in the city should not be jeopardized by the sending of apparatus outside of the city.

The decision was reached after a fire that occurred last Monday in a shack used by George Washington, colored, garbage collector, at Du Bocc and Kelsey street. Chemical trucks No. 1 and 2 were sent to combat the fire. According to report, the bystanders offered much criticism because more apparatus was not sent. This was done as the fire was outside of the city limits. The shack was destroyed.

Cooper says that the people outside the city limits who do not pay taxes to maintain the fire department are the first ones to offer criticism. Cooper declared, however, that the department would always be willing to aid in a big fire, provided that it did not leave Richmond unprotected.

BRIDGE COMPANY PLANS WORK ON INNER HARBOR

The development of the acreage bought on the Richmond inner harbor by the San Francisco Bridge company, will be improved as rapidly as it is possible for the concern to do so, according to announcement made yesterday.

It was also rumored that the company would acquire another piece of acreage on the harbor, which will add to the importance of the project.

The bridge company filed plans with the War Department Bureau of Rivers and Harbors Engineers at the customs house in San Francisco, showing that extensive dredging will be done, and that the city would also be benefited by the removal of material from the northern arm of the harbor. It is planned to remove the 200-foot berm in front of the acreage and in addition a basin will be dredged. A dredger will be put on the job within the next few days, it was said.

Business men here are of the opinion that the location of the company here will prove of great benefit to the commerce of the city. The concern has connections in the financial, shipping and manufacturing world. This it is pointed out, will most likely bring beneficial attention to the Richmond harbor as a location. The payroll of the company will include 30 men, including those in the shops, the warehouse it will build, and on the equipment stored on part of its frontage. However, it is expected that other payrolls will be brought to the city.

According to present plans the company will have considerable frontage on the harbor, which will be developed for its own purposes and for the location of other enterprises.

At the present time a survey is being made of a wide traffic avenue to run along the line of the bridge company's new holding and the remaining hinter land from the harbor line to Richmond avenue. A 100-foot right of way has already been dedicated to Richmond avenue, and it is planned to bring a real line to the company's property over this at a later date.

Everything possible is being done by the city officials to provide the company with the facilities that it must have.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

By RICHARD SPILLANE.

Universal Service Financial Editor, NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Stocks came back in fine style today.

The market did not look at all promising early in the session with Baldwin wobbly, steel down, various industrials and rails weak, not to speak of a considerable volume of selling that manifested was of a forced character.

The Palm Beach crowd was reported to be vigorous in pressing the advantage it gained Monday.

Incidental developments were not in the main cheerful. American Smelters broke wide open. From a high of 100 to tumbled in short order to 92 3-4.

The explanation apparently was in the decision of a Federal Judge sitting in San Francisco that Smelters, United Verde, Anaconda and various concerns had violated the patent rights of an inventor of a certain smelter device. The report was that the royalties due to the inventor would approximate $20,000,000.

The copper people laughed at the story. They said the suit could have been settled for about one-hundredth of the amount claimed, but was not because it lacked merit. From 92 3-4 Smelters rose quickly to 96 1-8 where it closed.

The turn in the market came when U. S. Steel was at 122 1-8. The brokerage house which represents the Steel Corporation in supporting its issue in the market had been a consistent purchaser through the morning and below 122 1-2 not only took nearly everything offered but bid for more. About the same time there was vigorous buying of various of the oils, general Petroleum in particular, together with the leading industrials, Baldwin, despite its discouraging financial report, being bid up as it was in great demand.

Excellent buying was evident throughout the day in Atchison and New Haven. The purchasing of Atchison was in such volume and so maintained that the stock rose 6 points.

While various stocks made large gains, the average gain was not large. That did not signify. The response of the market was proof that the decline had been checked. Business again was in excess of two million shares. Money was somewhat easier. Gains had an active day without so many of the bizarre features characteristic of recent markets. Cotton did as it has been doing lately only more so.

The futures market was dull and

Purchase of Site for Kensington School Confirmed

The purchase of the Smith tract in Kensington Park, as a site for the erection of an elementary school next August, was given official sanction at the meeting of the Richmond Board of Education in the Lincoln school last night. The purchase price of the site was announced as $12,000.

The tract consist of 10 acres and is owned by W. W. Smith and Ethel G. Smith each having 5 acres. At the present time the school children of Kensington Park are forced to attend the Thousand Oaks school in Berkeley which makes it very inconvenient, and also forces the children to attend the schools of another county—Thousand Oaks school being in Alameda county. Also the Thousand Oaks school refuses to care for any more students from this county, due to the already overcrowded condition of the school.

At the last meeting of the board in January, the Smith site was practically decided upon, but it was not voted upon until the last night's meeting. Plans were also discussed for the erection of a temporary school next August, but nothing definite was decided.

The purchase of play-ground apparatus for the Peares school play-grounds was authorized, and the new equipment will be installed within the next week or two, it was said. R. E. Slattery, president at the meeting in the absence of J. O. Ford, president.

ROHL INQUEST TONIGHT AT 7; FUNERAL TODAY

An inquest into the death of Louis Rohl, plumber, of 109 Mason avenue, who died on Sunday from what is believed to have been self-administered poison, will be held by Coroner Charles F. Donnelly at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the coroner's office on Macdonald avenue. A test of the stomach of Rohl by Frank Green, city chemist of San Francisco, determined the poison as potassium cyanide.

The funeral services for Rohl will be held this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the chapel of Wilson and Kratzer. After the services, cremation will take place at the Sunset View cemetery. Rohl is survived by a widow, Mrs. Lulu Rohl; his mother, Mrs. Charles Greendale, San Francisco, and a brother and sister.

In a raid made by the Richmond police department yesterday afternoon, Joe Isaacson, Room 5, 215 Macdonald avenue, was arrested and charged with violation of the Wright act. A quantity of jackass liquor was said to have been found in his possession. Isaacson was released on $1,000 bail bond to appear before Judge O'Brien today.

strong all day, closing 27 to 49 points up.

Coffee down 20 points.

Sugar from unchanged to two point up.

WHEAT BREAK SUPPORTED.

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Wheat ran into timely support on an early break today, which gradually uncovered an oversold pit condition and led to a brisk rally later. The close was steady for the May delivery and higher for the deferred months. Exporters and local professionals were the best early buyers while covering by shorts was the late feature.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1 5-8c higher, corn was 1-4 to 3-4c higher; oats were 1-8 to 3-4c higher and rye ruled 3-4 to 1 1-4c off.

News favored the bulls most of the day. Liverpool closed surprisingly weak and brought about the early slump, but lighter receipts in this country, well scattered foreign demand, strength in gulf premiums, and bullish advices on Canadian farm reserves attracted fresh buying.

The seaboard confirmed only moderate sales, but Kansas City reported 750,000 bushels worked via the gulf. Liverpool closed 4 1-2 to 5 1-4c lower.

Liquidation forced corn down sharply early in the day, but active support was encountered and prices recovered well to higher levels, finally. Covering by shorts was a feature during the last hour. The movement of corn from the farms is averaging materially below last year from day to day, and while the demand for the offerings on spot still disappointing bulls looks for it to show gradual betterment.

Oats dropped at the outset and then rallied. An excellent class of commission house absorption developed on the break.

Rye was heavy most of the day but firm at the last. Liquidation was offset by improved export demand and short covering.

Provisions closed uneven. Lard was 10 to 17 1-2c lower and ribs were 5c higher to 5c1c over.

ELKS LODGE PLANS MANY BIG EVENTS

Plans were made for the entertainment of the Alameda lodge of Elks on next Tuesday, February 24, at the meeting of the Elks lodge in the clubrooms last night.

The new show, "School Days", which has been rehearsed under the direction of Earl Caldwell of San Francisco, for the past three weeks, will give its premier performance on Tuesday night. After the entertainment a buffet luncheon will be served by Harry Blywise, steward. Music for the festivities will be furnished by Dennis Shaw's orchestra. Arrangements are in the hands of the Shindola Shines, who are expecting a delegation of 200 from the Alameda lodge.

On March 6, the big show for the benefit of the tubercular war veterans at the government hospital in Livermore, which is being planned by the combined Elks lodges of the East Bay, will be held in the Oakland auditorium at 8 o'clock. A box has been purchased for the show by the Richmond Elks, and eight crippled children and a nurse will be taken to the affair free of charge. It is planned to take the children in such circumstances have the opportunity for the enjoyment of such entertainment, and it is felt that in keeping with the spirit of the occasion nothing more appropriate could be done than to provide a treat for children who are physically disabled. A. A. Alstrom and A. B. Minter are in charge of arrangements.

On March 14, the Richmond Elks will be the guests of the Vallejo Elks at that city. At this time the show "School Days" will be presented for the entertainment of the Vallejo members. The committee in charge of arrangements for the visit is composed of Moss Mock, Fred Lutz, and Edward Lutz.

The annual merchandise fair of the Elks train shooting club will be held on March 15, at the club grounds, east of the Princeton Knitting mills.

The Berkeley lodge will visit here on March 17, at which time they will initiate a class of candidates, and participate in a big entertainment.

Ladies night will be held on March 27, in the clubrooms; and on March 31, past exalted rulers night will be held.

A. A. Alstrom, exalted ruler, presided at the meeting.
